Stonewall Jackson

The following extracts are taken from paper written by Mrs. Robertson, giving an account of an incident con nected with the death of Gen. "Stone wali" Jackson, whose lift is the sub-ject for study by the U. D. C. Coapters next month. Mrs. Robertson is the mother of Mrs. L. B. Joiner, of this city. Capt. Boswell was Mrs. Robertson's

Capt. James Keith Boswell was born n Fauquier county, in 1840. At the opening of the civil war he was chief ngineer on the Mobile & Montgomer Railroad. He enlisted in the Confederate army as soon as Fort Sumter fell and was assigned to duty noder Gen. Magrader with whom he served uctil Gen. Jackson went to Harper's Ferry, when he sought and obtained permis

He was always by Jackson's side in every engagement. At the bloody battle of Chancellorsville, he fought with conspicious bravery and was pro-moted on the field to the rank of major. That afternoon, when Jackson and his at-off rode out on that ill-fated inspection, he rode on Jackson's right hand, and was close to his side when that terrible volley deprived him of his life and Jackson of his right arm.

A short time after, when Jackson's arm was amputated, he inquired after the fate of Capt. Boswell. He was told that he was dead and would be buried to the fate of Capt. that evening. "Doctor," said the General, his eyes filling with tears, "lease place my arm in Boswell's coffin. I would like to have Jim and my-self resurrected together." After the war, Cspt. Poswell's remains were removed to Fredericksburg, Va. There, halled by the soft breezes of his native State, in sight of the views he loved, the young soldier lies, his last resting place narked by a beautiful column given by the surviving members of the staff and in his coffin lies entombed the right arm of Gen. Stonewall Jackson. - [Waycross,

Jim Crow Cars.

Citizens of the Northwest (Washington) Suburban Association had an ex citing time at'last night's meeting at Masonic Hall, Tennallytown, and passed some important resolutions. They had under consideration the curtailing of the power of the commissioners of the Dis-trict of Columbia in regard to the ap-pointment of the board of education by placing the power in the hands of the Supreme Court judges, the action of the district commissioners in passing upon various bills concerning the welfare of the people without consulting the citi zens, and the "jim crow car" bill, re-cently introduced in the House of Representatives by Mr. Heffin, of Alabama. Resolutions seeking to correct the first two evils were passed, and after a little parliamentary quibb.ing, the resolution advocating the "jim crow cars" was laid on the table, to be considered at the next meeting of the association.
